

Quite Software Limited

Carraig Thura, Lochawe, Argyll, UK,
PA33 1AF

phone: +44 20 8553 6574

fax: +44 1631 574088

<http://www.quite.com/>

mail: help@quite.com

Quite first with Mac OS X upgrade for all their Acrobat plug-ins

LOCHAWE, SCOTLAND, (1, February 2002) — Quite Software are known for their innovative Acrobat plug-ins and we are happy to find that so far as we know, we are first to release Mac OSX native versions of all our plug-ins. And it won't cost our customers a bean to upgrade.

Adobe Acrobat 5.05 was released in December 2001, and Acrobat 5.05 is the first to be able to run on Mac OSX native.

Quite Imposing Plus is the industry standard tool for imposing PDF documents directly within Acrobat. Quite Imposing is a streamlined version of Quite Imposing Plus. Quite A Box Of Tricks is a powerful toolkit for PDF professionals, including conversion to CMYK and reducing PDF file size by recompressing images. Full details on <http://www.quite.com/>.

On 1 February, version 1.5c of all plug-ins were made available on our web site. This includes Mac OS X native support when used with Acrobat 5.05. Upgrades to this version are free to download for all registered users.

We want our customers to have a choice, so we continue to support our plug-ins under Acrobat 3.0, 4.0 and 5.0 on all compatible Power Macintosh platforms. For many this will be necessary while they wait for their other plug-ins to catch up.

Today in a separate announcement, Quite began the public beta trial of their new Quite Revealing plug-in. This is also available with OS X native support.

Background: Quite Software are a leading independent developer of pre-press plug-ins for Adobe® Acrobat®. Based in the Highlands of Scotland, but selling to a world-wide market, their current products, Quite Imposing, Quite Imposing Plus, and Quite A Box Of Tricks, are seen as essential tools in the PDF armoury.

While Quite are not aware of any previous commercial third-party (non-Adobe) plug-ins to be released with OS X compatibility, it is not possible to guarantee this in such a large and diverse market.

Press contact: Sal Nicholson (sal@quite.com).

Adobe and Acrobat are registered trademarks of Adobe Systems Incorporated.
Apple, Mac and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc.

- END -